Federation of Catholic Societies to Meet Here Tomorrow Afternoon.

Preliminary to the Meeting of American Federation in Detroit.

Kentucky Favorable to Movement and Will Send Strong Delegation.

DELEGATES FROM JEFFERSON COUNTY

The Kentucky State Federation of Catholic Societies will meet in the parlors of the Louisville Hotel at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The occasion promises to be an interesting and profitable one for the societies interested. There will be delegates in attendance from all over the State. At a meeting of the Jefferson County Federation held last Friday night James B. Kelly presided, and sixteen organizations responded to the roll call. Presiding officer Kelly stated that State President Witte had authorized him to issue a call for the meeting tomorrow, which had been done in due form. Father Barrett, of the Passionsist order, Mr. Kelly said, had consented to deliver an address, and Secretary Matre, of the national organization, would be present and deliver an address. It was decided by the assembled delegates in attendance that all the societies in the county should be represented, and the former action taken in the matter of selecting delegates was therefore rescinded, and the following fuller list was chosen to represent Jefferson county at the meeting tomorrow:

William M. Higgins, Dr. J. W. Fowler, Dr. P. S. Clark, Eugene J. Conroy, John J. Barry, Cornelius Ford, Lawrence J. Mackey, James Coleman, Michael Reichert, Thomas Tobin, John O'Connor, Sheridan, B. J. Dolle, William O'Connor, Clarence Zook, James Noonan, John Dolan, Miss Mayne Kiley, Miss Rena Weisenberg and Miss Mary Burke.

The meeting of the Kentucky Federation tomorrow is preliminary to the assembling of the American Federation of Catholic Societies in Detroit on August 24. This meeting promises to be one of the largest Catholic assemblages ever brought together in this country. Bishops, priests and laymen are co-operating to make it a grand success, and the Kentucky Catholic societies, though not numerically so strong as some of the other State Federations, will be there in force, and its delegates will be heard from.

In union there is strength, and this being an age of organization and concentration, members of the various Catholic organizations must get together in order to do more effective work. So far as the Kentucky societies are concerned they are all favorable to the movement of Federation.

President Kelly has named the following ladies and gentlemen, who will act as a reception committee in receiving the delegates: Misses Mayne Kiley and Rena Weisenberg and Dr. J. W. Fowler, John J. Barry, Michel Reichert, Anthony J. Sheridan, Louis Stelnert and Dr. B. J. Lammers.

Federation proposes to unite all organizations composed of Catholics, whether they possess the insurance, the beneficial or the religious feature, and to add even the representative members of parishes who belong to no special society, and eventually the entire Catholic people of the United States in a great organization for the welfare of Catholics as members of the Catholic church and American citizens.

The readiest and best method of accomplishing this object has been indicated by experience, viz., to take the present Catholic societies as a basis and bring them together in a central organization without in any way trespassing on their autonomy, aims or objects. It is proper to accentuate the fact that a Catholic political party is neither contemplated nor desirable. Any one acquainted with America will understand that Catholics, as Catholics, can not engage in partisan politics. Such a course would be highly detrimental to Catholic interests.

Federation has already accomplished a great deal. It has formed Catholic opinion on the great topics of the day; it has drawn attention to the views of Catholics on them, so that the public ear eagerly awaits the proceedings of its national conventions. These proceedings are published in the Catholic press and scattered broadcast by means of the secular press. There can be no doubt that, since the foundation of the Federation, the Catholic solution of modern problems, the Catholic doctrine on education, divorce, socialism, etc., has been announced with an effectiveness never before experienced in the history of the republic.

As practical results of the influence of federation may be mentioned the concessions made in the Philippine difficulties, the present amicable relations existing in Porto Rico, the changed aspect of the Indian schools and the clear light thrown on the solution of the vexed public school question. Other agencies assisted, it is true, but federation performed its full share in all these matters.

The Right Rev. Bishop McPaul in discussing federation says in part: "Those who are timid regarding Federation and hesitate to join it lest it may transgress the legitimate field in which alone safety can be found, and inopportune precipitate the practical solution of problems which are still immature, should reflect that Federation includes in its Advisory Board some of the most eminent, the most prudent and conservative members of the hierarchy, and no important step can be taken without their consent. In due time the organization hopes to have the whole hierarchy acting in the capacity of advisers. In questions affecting an archdiocese, or a diocese, the Archbishop and Bishop respectively will be the principal members of the Advisory Board; and in national questions the Board of Archbishops. Laymen will thus be guided in the proper channels and there will be no danger of injury to our interests arising from misdirection and misapplied zeal." There is only one discordant note heard against the Federation, and that comes from the editor of the Catholic Citizen of Milwaukee, who seems to take a delight in "kicking" about everything that does not suit his peculiar views. The editor of the Catholic Citizen affects to believe that a unification of Catholic societies will do more harm than good. He is afraid that the movement will arouse the Know-Nothings and the A. P. A's. The editor should get back in his cave and not emerge until after the Detroit meeting. Then he may wake up and learn something.

NOBLE LIFE ENDED.

Michael Grogan Goes Peacefully to His Eternal Reward.

Michael Grogan, after an illness of less than two days, passed peacefully to his eternal reward Monday morning at his home, 1710 Seventh street, leaving surviving him his aged wife and six grown children—Messrs. John, Martin and William Grogan, and Mrs. John Reardon and Misses Vina and Margaret Grogan. The deceased had been a resident of Louisville since he was a young man, and during all that time was with the Louisville & Nashville railroad. He was born in the County Galway, Ireland, some sixty years ago, and alone made the voyage to this country at an early age, and as soon as possible became a citizen of the United States. Michael Grogan was a living example of a true, upright, honorable citizen, a faithful husband, a loving and affectionate father, and an ardent Catholic. As a Christian he was above reproach. Believing firmly in the tenets of his religion, his life was one of perfect trust and loyalty, faithfully performing his duties to his church in every way possible. For many years previous to his death he attended mass regularly and was a communicant at the altar rail at the Dominican church. His zealous devotion to his church was commented on by many. His friends, in truth, were legion, for his amicable nature was such as to make everyone his friend and enemies—none. All who knew him loved him, and all join in extending to those whom he left behind their most heartfelt sympathy.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning, Rev. Father Twobig being the celebrant of the high mass of requiem. He paid an eloquent and feeling tribute to the life and memory of his dead parishioner. The church was thronged with mourning friends and relatives, and after the interment in St. Louis cemetery the grave was entirely covered with floral designs from all sections of the city.

WORDS OF PRAISE

For Supreme President of the Catholic Knights and Ladies.

In presenting to its readers a splendid likeness of D. E. Kelley, the new Supreme President of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, who has just entered upon the duties of his office, the Catholic Journal of Memphis pays him the following handsome tribute:

"The Journal believes that the selection of the Supreme President was one which undoubtedly set forth the good judgment of the delegates. That it was a most wise selection no one in Memphis can for an instant gainsay. In the person of D. E. Kelley the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America selected a man who will, if health be given him, without question advance the order to a position second to none among our Catholic societies. Mr. Kelley is a man well informed on fraternal insurance and has made it a study for a number of years how best to carry insurance at a nominal cost to its membership, and yet at the same time in no way to keep the beneficiaries waiting for their legal amount of insurance or fail to be able to meet all obligations. This is a great question which is being battled with by all insurance organizations, and the members of the C. K. and L. of A. may rest assured that in carrying out this idea President Kelley will not be found wanting in courage to see to it that the order pays every dollar that it obligates itself to do." For the information of our Memphis contemporary we would say that the Supreme Spiritual Director is the Rev. Charles P. Raffo, of this city, and that Miss Mary Sheridan, also of this city, and not Mark Sheridan, was re-elected Supreme Treasurer.

SATOLLI

Gives Strong Indorsement to Knights of Columbus at St. Paul.

Says the Organization Is Thoroughly Catholic and Worthy.

Archbishop Ireland Also Has a Kind Word For the Order.

NOTABLE RECEPTION AT ST. PAUL

Cardinal Satolli, who stands very close to Pope Pius X., has given his unqualified indorsement to the Knights of Columbus, and Archbishop Ireland strongly indorses all that the Cardinal said about the order. On the occasion of the visit of Cardinal Satolli to St. Paul he was given a grand reception at the Hotel Ryan. Between 7,000 and 8,000 people called to pay their respects to the distinguished prelate. The reception was given under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, and Judge William L. Kelly delivered the welcome address in behalf of the Knights and the citizens of St. Paul. It was one of the most notable receptions ever given to a non-resident of the city.

In some quarters there have been blinks that the Knights of Columbus have not the full approval of the church authorities, but this was set at rest by the Cardinal. At the conclusion of the address Archbishop Ireland said: "Never since the founding of the order have such words of strong commendation been spoken from such a high authority. Henceforth the members of the order throughout America will all look to St. Paul as the city where the Knights of Columbus received supreme honor."

Cardinal Satolli, in the course of his reply to the address of welcome from the Knights, said in part:

"I thank you, gentlemen, Knights of Columbus, for the sentiments to which you have given expression, not in regard to myself personally, but in regard to your society. To be frank, I will say that heretofore I had some little hesitation as to the substantial nature, the formal organization and the probable results of this association. Now, however, I am glad to say that I have better information and have seen it at close range. I realize that it enjoys the approval and the encouragement of Bishops, and that it counts among its members many irreproachable ecclesiastics, and that it admits no one that does not give evidence of good standing in church and State and is not a practical Catholic. I declare that henceforth I shall cherish a special regard for the society of the Knights of Columbus and I trust it may have a field growing wider with years and a future blessed with prosperity."

"The Catholic church, since it is a living organization, eminently social of its nature, has always had in the past and shows itself to have today inexhaustible and marvelous fecundity in producing and nurturing associations, quickened with her own spirit of justice and charity, aiming to secure the common good of their members and of civil society at large. For twenty centuries there has been in the church an unbroken succession of fraternal associations to suit the needs and conditions of humanity. The history, especially of the middle ages in Christian Europe, is a wonderful record of institutions for every social class, in arts and trades, in industry and commerce. They were destroyed by subsequent changes, but everywhere the church has given new birth to others more numerous and more active. Among them in America, I am pleased to number the Knights of Columbus. The very name of that glory of Italy, the discoverer of America, entitles you to confidence and sympathy in a special degree."

At the conclusion of the address of the Cardinal the Knights paid their respects to him in person. His strong indorsement of the order is very pleasing to Knights of Columbus all over the country and will have a good effect in many quarters.

VINCENTIANS

Will Receive Holy Communion Tomorrow at St. Brigid's.

Tomorrow morning at St. Brigid's church, on Hepburn avenue, there will be witnessed an imposing and impressive scene. At the 7:30 o'clock mass the members of all the Louisville conferences of the St. Vincent de Paul Society will assemble and receive holy communion in a body in celebration of the feast of the patron saint of the greatest charity society the world has ever known. The rector, Rev. Henry A. Connolly, will be the celebrant of the mass, and it is expected he will deliver a sermon on St. Vincent de Paul and his works.

As many members will have to come long distances and will be fasting, the good people of the congregation have arranged to have a light collation on grounds adjacent to the church after the mass. The tables will be presided over by the following well-known married ladies: Mesdames J. C. Fedler, Chairman; Henry Imorde, Secretary; Louis Hinkle, Gus Moore, J. Moore, Joseph Buschmeyer, Henry Klapheke, Leo Goss, and J. R. Stey. They will be assisted in waiting on the tables by the Young Ladies' Sodality, which has appointed the following committee: Misses Carrie Kelly, Dora Barrett, Ollie Kelly, Nellie Barrett, Winnie Heunessy, Rose Fedler, Carrie Rieker and Emma Stey. The general meeting of the conferences will be held in St. Francis' Hall at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, which all members must attend in order to gain the indulgence granted for this occasion.

VETERAN EDITOR

And Distinguished Convert to Catholic Faith Dead at St. Louis.

Dr. Edward Preuss, editor of the Amerika, leading German newspaper of St. Louis, died at his home in that city a few days ago. He was the father of Arthur Preuss, editor of the Review. Dr. Preuss was a man of distinguished ability, a fine scholar and an author of repute. He was a convert to the Catholic faith. Born in Prussia in 1834, he graduated from the University of Koelnberg in 1853, receiving the degree of doctor of philosophy. He was for several years a professor in the gymnasium of the university and enjoyed the friendship of such men as Bismarck.

As a writer Dr. Preuss became first known by his book against the Catholic dogma of the Immaculate Conception. It was published in Latin, but at the request of many friends was subsequently translated into German. This book, however, was not received very favorably by the liberal Protestants, then prevalent in Germany, nor were his other theological works. This was especially the case with his book on "The Justification of the Sinner Before God." In the face of this opposition Dr. Preuss tendered his resignation as director of Koenig Friedrich Wilhelm gymnasium on December 8, 1868, and decided to emigrate to America.

Here he became identified with one of the most orthodox Lutheran synods, who readily received him as professor of theology in a seminary. On September 1, 1871, he resigned his professorship, and on December 8, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, against which dogma he had warred with his pen, he was received into the Catholic church. In 1879 he published a book of recantation, entitled "In Praise of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, by One Who Has Defamed Her." In 1884, when the University of Notre Dame tendered the doctor its Laetare medal, which had never before been bestowed on a German-American, notwithstanding the urgent request of many prominent friends, among them the late Bishop Twenger of Port Wayne, Ind., Dr. Preuss modestly declined the honor. His medal is therefore still at Notre Dame.

CATHOLIC LAYMEN

Must Obey the Ecclesiastical Authorities in Every Diocese.

A new encyclical letter, addressed to all the Bishops of the world and dealing with the duties of laymen toward the church, is in course of preparation at the Vatican, says a Rome cablegram to the Chicago Record-Herald. It will insist strongly on the obligation of all lay Roman Catholics to obey the ecclesiastical authorities and to undertake no innovation without the previous consent of those who have been placed by God to govern the church. The Pope also will point out the necessity for laymen who are chiefs of Roman Catholic societies or leaders in Roman Catholic work to be consistent in their private life as examples of good living Christians. No Roman Catholic work is to be undertaken by laymen without the consent and co-operation of the authorities of the diocese.

It also is pointed out that in many cases the work undertaken by Roman Catholic laymen invades the ground already covered by the Roman Catholic enterprises and is performed sometimes only in order to give undue prominence to vain and pretentious individuals who really have no Roman Catholic interests at heart. The Pope advises that different laymen be chosen for the several undertakings in each diocese, instead of concentrating the responsibilities of many works in one person's hands. The encyclical ends recommending peace and union among Roman Catholics, exhorting all to be of one heart and soul in private as well as in public life, like the Christians of the early church. It is asserted that Pius X. has written the text of this encyclical letter himself in Italian, and has given it to his Latin secretary for translation into the language of the church.

JOHN LOOKS WELL.

John J. Wynn, Master Mechanic for the Louisville & Atlantic railroad, with headquarters at Richmond, was here the first part of the week visiting his family and old-time railroad associates. For years he was with the L. & N. in this city, and was popular with his fellow-workmen, who were all glad to see him looking so well. John knows his business thoroughly and is giving entire satisfaction in his new position.

FESTIVAL

For the Benefit of St. Joseph's Catholic Orphan Asylum.

It Will Be Held July 27 and Will Be the Event of the Season.

The Proceeds Will Be Used to Defray Recent Extraordinary Expenses.

IS A MOST WORTHY CHARITY

There is no worthier charity in the city of Louisville than St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum. It is conducted on broad lines and the inmates are cared for in the best manner possible. Whenever the officers of the society give an entertainment for the benefit of this great charity there is a liberal response from the members of the various congregations connected with the society, which includes all the Catholic German speaking congregations in the city and now numbers over 1,200 members.

This year St. Joseph's has been put to extraordinary expenses on account of improvements. The City Building Inspector ordered two new fire escapes put up at an expense of $892, and then the city ordered the construction of a new sewer 725 feet long, which will cost over $500. On account of the fire at St. Catherine's Academy the Trustees had to go to expense to maintain additional inmates. In order to pay for these extraordinary expenses the Board of Trustees has decided to give a festival on Monday, July 27, for the benefit of the orphan fund. Over 250 gentlemen have consented to serve on the various committees. The Chairman of the various committees is published below.

There is no doubt that the affair will be a very pleasant event. It will continue during the day and evening, and at night there will be illuminations. As will be seen, the heads of the committees are all men prominent in German Catholic society circles:

Arrangements—Henry Bosse, Finance—H. A. Briukhaus, Press—Edward Neubaus, Transportation—Henry Bosquet, Programme—Dr. B. J. Lammers, Invitation—Frank P. Senu, House and Telephone—Joseph Sibling, Reception—Joseph Hubbuch, Music—Ferd F. Lutz, Building—H. H. Schnieders, Reporter—John Schildt, Entrance—Joseph C. Schildt, Ticket—Edward G. Hill, Meal Ticket—B. Fritsch, Restaurant Door—Henry Harpring, Sr., Waiter—Frank Schmitt, Order of Police—E. Bohlen, Membership—J. B. Ohligschlager, Orphan—B. Schaefer, Entertainment—Frank A. Leuz, Receiving of Goods—Joseph W. Knapp, Painting—Michael Reichert, Decoration—George J. Eker, Flying Dutchman—George Bohr, Illumination—Charles Staehle, Shooting Gallery—George Schump, Check Rack—Herman H. Hubers, Vehicle—Dominick Zebender, Restaurant—Nic E. Weber, Wheel of Fortune—Nic Boaler, Wheel of Good Luck—J. C. Kirchdorfer, Ice Cream No. 1—Henry Michael, Ice Cream No. 2—Joseph L. Stenclie, Fancy Table—Jacob H. Walser, Fruit Stand—Martin Kolb, Lunch Stand No. 1—Peter Zoeller, Lunch Stand No. 2—Joseph Discher, Fish Pond—B. B. Schlemann, Confectionery No. 1—Theodore Evers, Confectionery No. 2—R. Stoesser, Lemonade No. 1—Theodore Popp, Lemonade No. 2—Joseph Rademker.

The children of the orphan asylum will sing songs of welcome and other songs both during the afternoon and evening. Eichhorn's full orchestra of twenty-five trained musicians will furnish the instrumental music. The Concordia, the oldest singing society in Louisville, will sing in the evening. A good old fashioned Dutch supper will be served in the evening and no matter how late visitors go to the grounds they can depend upon being served. The festival promises to be the event of the season.

The programmes offered surpass any ever before offered the Louisville public. The first begins at 11 o'clock in the morning, and is as follows: March—"Hohenoller," Sarro, Overture—"Ein Morgen, ein Mittag, ein Abend in Wien," Suppe, Waltz—"Die Hydropaten," Gungl, Potpourri—"Ein Rundgesang ueber deutsche Volklieder," C. Latann, Our Orphans—Jubilee Songs, C. ## CATHOLIC KNIGHTS

Invited to Picnic of Branch 642 at Riverview Park On Tuesday.

Branch 642 of the Catholic Knights of America will give what promises to be one of the season's most enjoyable picnics at Riverview Park next Tuesday, and it is hoped that the members of the order throughout the city will assist in making it a success. The branch is just now badly in need of funds, and the members therefore take this means of replenishing an empty treasury. The complete privileges of the park have been secured for the day, and the committee having the picnic in charge is assurance that all who attend will spend a pleasant evening. There will be dancing, without extra charge, and other amusements, and besides the holder of each ticket will be entitled to a chance on a number of valuable articles donated by friends of the branch. Every detail has been looked after and arrangement made for handling a large crowd. Meals and refreshments of all kinds will be served by lady friends of the members at reasonable prices. Attend this picnic and have a good time with the Knights.

Cars will run until the committees and all are returned to the city. The following gentlemen compose the committee having the picnic in charge: Edward Dalton, Chairman; Joseph Rickelman, Secretary; James McBride, Treasurer; Tom J. Garvey, Patrick Mangan, Dennis Gleason, Robert Mitchell, Thomas Sheehan, Anthony J. Sheridan, Wm. Euler, Henry Schnitzer and Martin Fahey. The ladies assisting are Misses Mary McElhott, Katie Foley, Lullie Gatto, Nell Lally, Mayme Gatto, and Mesdames Sandman, Kareem, McBride, Gleason and Rickelman.

JAMES HORAN

Succumbs After Long and Brave Fight With Cancer.

Of the many deaths which have occurred recently in the West End few have occasioned such widespread public regret and sympathy as that of James Horan, which sad event occurred last Sunday morning at his home, 1775 Bank street. For several months he had battled bravely against dread cancer and had borne his sufferings with remarkable fortitude. When the end came, however, he was ready to go, having received the last rites of his church. At his bedside were his bereaved wife and nine children, to whom he had been a loving husband and kind and indulgent father. James Horan was born in Virginia, but the greater part of his life was spent in this city, where he was respected for his many qualities. He was honorable in his dealings with his fellow-men and was a consistent champion of the Irish race. His funeral Tuesday morning at St. Patrick's and the many who called to express sympathy at the house attested the regard felt for him by all classes. A long line of carriages followed the remains to St. Louis cemetery.

VISITED SISTERS.

Right Rev. John Lancaster Spalding, Bishop of Peoria, arrived in Lebanon Thursday of last week to visit his sisters, Mrs. Kate Spalding and Mrs. N. H. Putnam. To his friends the great churchman appeared in excellent health. The first session of the convention was opened with an address of welcome by Archbishop Glennon. Other addresses were made by Mayor Wells, P. R. Fitzgibbon, City Auditor of St. Louis, and John J. O'Connor, State President of the organization. There were responses to the address of welcome by National President James Dolan and other visiting officers and members. Three sessions of the convention were held Wednesday, at which the features were the reports of the national officers, the most important being that of National President Dolan. President Dolan strongly recommended the establishment of an insurance order under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the establishment of a national home for the aged and infirm members and the abolition of "the caricature known as the 'stage Irishman.'" The report of National Treasurer M. J. O'Brien showed that he has a cash balance on hand of $28,261.43. Thursday was Irish day at the Fair, and the greater part of the day was spent there by the delegates and visitors to the convention. A short session was held Thursday morning before going to the Fair, where a carefully arranged programme was carried out. The day of festivities closed with an elegant banquet in the evening in the Irish Village. The banquet was presided over by State President John J. O'Connell as toastmaster. The address of welcome at the banquet was delivered by Rev. Timothy Deupay. Among the other speakers were Gov. Dockery, President Francis, President James Dolan, Archbishop Glennon, Judge O'Neil Ryan, John T. Keating, P. J. O'Connor and Rev. D. S. Phelan. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the order, for the first time in its history, has chosen its own officers. In the past the auxiliary organization has been managed by an advisory board of three members, who were under instructions and reported to the President and Chaplain of the Hibernians. A decision was made, however, Tuesday afternoon that this should be changed, and accordingly officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Mary A. Quinn, of Joliet, Ill., was chosen President; Mrs. Rose F. Keating, of Baltimore, Md., Vice President, and Miss Katherine E. Sheridan, of Randolph, Mass., Secretary. The programme calls for the election of national officers at the closing day's session. There is thought to be only one contest, and that is for the office of National Secretary. There are six candidates for this position. The present incumbent, James P. Bree, of New Haven, Conn., desires re-election, while others wanting the honor of the position are James T. Carroll, Columbus, O.; Richard Donahue, Philadelphia, Pa.; Patrick Donahue, Richmond, Va.; Patrick P. Cannon, Clinton, Mass. The happiest man at the banquet Thursday night was Kentucky's State President, Tom Keenan. His colleagues thought he might have been promised the National Presidency, but when asked the cause of his jubilation he smilingly informed them that he was the recipient of a dispatch stating that the stork had just left another handsome maid of Erin at his home, and that he could now safely remain until the convention was over. The news soon spread and congratulations were the order from delegates from all States and countries.

HARMONY

Prevailed at the National Convention of Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Opening Preceded by Solemn High Mass by Archbishop Glennon.

President Dolan Recommends the Establishment of a National Home.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST RACE CARICATURE

One thousand delegates, representing 200,000 members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in all parts of the English speaking world, met in the biennial convention of the order which began on Tuesday afternoon in Music Hall, St. Louis. Aside from the delegates, fully 20,000 members of the order were in attendance at the sessions during the first three days.

The Hibernians represent practically the entire people of the world of Irish birth or of Irish blood. The organization has for its purpose the promotion of the interests of the Irish people. It is strong in all the countries of the world where there are any Irish people, and has grown amazingly in strength in this country in the past few years. Through affiliations in some countries there are practically a half million members of the order. There were delegates present at this convention from Canada, Hawaii, Mexico, Ireland, England, Scotland and the United States.

Tuesday morning the delegates to the convention and the members of the order in the city met at the Lindell Hotel, the regular headquarters, and marched to St. Patrick's church, Sixth and Bidde streets, where solemn high mass was said in the presence of Archbishop John J. Glennon, the National Chaplain. Besides the Archbishop many of his clergy were present.

The first session of the convention was opened with an address of welcome by Archbishop Glennon. Other addresses were made by Mayor Wells, P. R. Fitzgibbon, City Auditor of St. Louis, and John J. O'Connor, State President of the organization. There were responses to the address of welcome by National President James Dolan and other visiting officers and members.

AN IMPOSITION.

The Louisville Lighting Company, which was recently purchased from the Louisville Gas Company by an Eastern syndicate, seems to be managed under the idea that it can do as it pleases with its patrons. At least this is the view now entertained by many who have to deal with the company. Complaints have come to the Kentucky Irish American that rates have been advanced all along the line, and that attempts have been made to shut out competition. The company has a practical monopoly of the electric lighting and electric power business in Louisville. It is alleged that it has advanced the rates in many instances. Those who use fans, for instance, in their places of business have been called upon to pay a much higher rate than when the company was an adjunct of the Gas Company.

The Eastern capitalists who control the electric lighting privileges must not presume too much on the good nature and forbearance of the people of Louisville. Their local managers should give them a tip that the people will not stand for imposition, and that they had better be satisfied with the old rates or their franchise will be taken away from them altogether.

The charges for electric lighting and for electric power in Louisville are out of all proportion, and instead of the companies advancing rates they should be compelled to reduce them. They take up streets and alleys with unsightly poles and dangerous wires, and the General Council ought to get after them and compel them to place their wires under ground if they do not reduce the rates. The idea of increasing the rates is preposterous and should not be entertained for a moment.

A LAWYER ON DIVORCE.

At a meeting of the Indiana Bar Association held the other day, at which the most distinguished lawyers in the Hoosier State attended, the President of the association, Mr. M. A. Breen, of Fort Wayne, himself an eminent lawyer, delivered an address which is attracting widespread attention.

President Breen in his annual address took the ground that for the safety of the family and for the protection of the entire social fabric absolute divorce should not be allowed on any conditions, and that the law providing for it should be repealed. This was certainly a declaration which will cause widespread discussion as coming from a man of Mr. Breen's position and standing as a lawyer and a citizen. We do not know Mr. Breen's religious views, whether he is Catholic or non-Catholic, but he must be a man of ability to be at the head of the Indiana Bar Association.

There has been a great deal of talk about the evils of divorce from the Protestant pulpits of late and also from social reformers, but comment on divorce is seldom heard from lawyers, and it is therefore much more impressive when it comes from this source. Lawyers are certainly well informed on the subject, and by reason of their everyday practice have opportunities of knowing of the evils of divorce. Therefore when President Breen declares that absolute divorce should not be allowed on any ground for the safety of the State it is presumed he knows what he is talking about. Mr. Breen did not discuss the evil from a religious standpoint, but spoke as an attorney and citizen of the State. We regret that we have not the full text of the address. It is not recorded that his arguments were successfully refuted by any member of the Indiana Bar Association. Certainly when an Indiana lawyer can take such advanced ground the Protestant ministerial associations can afford to renew their efforts to suppress divorce. The Catholic church takes the same view of the divorce evil that Mr. Breen does and has done so for centuries.

It is refreshing to know that Indiana has a lawyer like Mr. Breen. Twenty years ago Indiana was famous for its liberality in granting divorces for any and every cause. That State is now no worse in this respect than most of the other States. Mr. Breen has observed the evil grow and his address to his fellow-attorneys may set them and others to thinking on this important subject.

Carrie Nation, the Kansas amazon, who has been going around the country getting so much free advertising, came to Louisville on Monday. She wanted permission to speak in the parks, but the city authorities very properly denied her request. She left town in a few hours. If the woman was ignored she would soon subside, but she gets so much free advertising that she is able to keep on the go. As a temperance reformer Mrs. Nation is a stupendous fraud.

Those who are instrumental in bringing large bodies of men here, like the Grand Army, the Knights Templar and the Knights of Pythias, ought to pay for their entertainment. It is contrary to law for the city to contribute to the entertainment of such bodies, and at Cincinnati the Elks did not ask for a cent from the city—and the entertainment was superb. The Knights of Columbus asked for nothing when they came here in June.

Irish-Americans bob up serenely in almost all walks of life. The retiring Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, Joe Fanning, is an Irishman and a Catholic, and his successor, Judge O'Brien, of Baltimore, is also an Irish-American, as his name indicates. It is hard to get along without the Irish, and sometimes, but not often, it is hard to get along with them.

Verily in the midst of life we are in death. This was forcibly brought to mind this week by the unexpected death of Judge Upton W. Muir at Cape May, N. J. This day week Judge Muir was not thinking of death. We do not know what minute we will be called to eternity, and it is well to think of this occasionally as we go along.

Through the advice of Attorney Aaron Kohn the negro, Tom Cole, who wanted to open a saloon and dance hall in Portland, withdrew his application for license last Wednesday. For this Col. Kohn should be commended, even though the handwriting was on the wall.

GETS GOOD REST.

Will H. Price, the genial and efficient Secretary of the Police Department, left Thursday morning with his wife for Benton Harbor, Mich., where they will spend two weeks. This will give Secretary Price a good rest and prepare him for a busy time during the Pythian encampment that takes place next month.

THANKS HER FRIENDS.

To the Editor of The Kentucky Irish-American: I desire to thank you and my friends through your paper for the kindness shown to me in the World's Fair popularity contest and for the number of letters cast for me. All were cast by my friends. Thanking you and them again, I am, respectfully yours,

CATHERINE COUGRAU.

A pretty baby boy has arrived at the home of James P. Reedy, 2908 Green wood avenue. The proud father has been receiving congratulations all the week.

Miss Annie Breed was entertained extensively while visiting Miss Sue Foley at Owensboro, one of the very enjoyable functions being the trolley party given in her honor.

It is rumored that James Sexton, the brave fire laddie will soon enter on a matrimonial career, as his friends say he devotes all his spare time to the gentler sex.

Mr. Spalding Coleman and daughter, Miss Virginia, left Thursday for Wequeteung, Mich., to spend the rest of the summer with Mrs. Coleman's mother, Mrs. William Robinson.

Misses Mary Kearns, Ethel Head and Ella Dent, popular girls of South Louisville, spent a pleasant week with friends in Owensboro, where they were the recipients of marked attention.

John Coll and wife, of Jeffersonville, and Miss Annie Mackey, of this city, left Sunday night for a visit to the World's Fair. From St. Louis they will go to Keokuk, Galveston and Wichita.

Thomas T. Maher and D. V. Loughlin, of Birmingham, Ala., delegates to the Hibernian national convention, stopped over here for a few days as the guests of Miss Mary Foley, 738 Oldham street.

Misses Beecie Hannan and Mollie Collins left Monday on their annual vacation, which they will spend in Europe. They will not return until September, spending most of the time in France.

Henry A. Bachman, Jaske Zorn, Will Fehler and Will Schott, known as the "big four," have just returned from Sweet Sulphur Springs, where they had been recuperating for the past two weeks.

Misses Julia and Maggie O'Donnell, of Meadow Brook, and their cousin, Master Louis Foley, have gone on a three weeks' visit to their uncle, J. Conniff, at Chapeze. They will also visit in Bardstown before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, of Bank street, are receiving the congratulations of their many friends and all on account of the arrival of a big boy at their home. Papa Smith is a drummer for the Louisville Varnish Works. The youngster was christened Francis David Smith last Sunday.

Miss Amelia Schultheis, a popular school teacher and favorite in society circles of Jasper, Ind., is here spending her summer vacation as the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. B. Horstman, Fifth street. Since her arrival last week Miss Schultheis has been quite extensively entertained and has won many admirers.

Mrs. Edward B. Hannan and children arrived this week from Paducah, and are the guests of the family of Thomas Hannan, 2015 Payne street. Mrs. Hannan formerly resided here, but moved to Paducah some years ago, where her husband conducts a large electrical and plumbing establishment and has served in the City Council.

HIGHER HONORS

For the Rev. Dennis J. Flynn, Formerly of This City.

Rev. Dennis J. Flynn, formerly of this city, but for the last six years professor at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, has just been chosen Vice President and Treasurer of that famous college. The reverend gentleman is well remembered here, having taught for some years at St. Xavier's College, the class graduating with Jeff Bannan being all his pupils. They are all glad to learn of the honor conferred on him, which they believe was well deserved. Today Father Flynn will sail from New York to spend the summer in Ireland.

BIG TURN OUT

Greeted New Members of the Hibernian Ladies' Auxiliary.

A big turn out of members of the Hibernian Ladies' Auxiliary greeted Misses Lizzie Brennan, Maggie Carroll and Lizzie Cannon when they were obligated Wednesday night in Hibernian Hall. Miss Mary Kavanaugh presided, and on all sides were heard expressions of delight at the success that the auxiliary is meeting with, applications for membership being received at every meeting. The regular business was dispatched quickly, after which short talks and suggestions by Mrs. B. J. O'Connor, Miss Maggie Connelin and Miss Mary Corcoran. The rapid growth of their organization was a source of much pride, but the canvas for new members, they said, should continue until their auxiliary numbered as many as the four divisions. Then any undertaking they might engage in would be successful and their power for doing good would be largely increased. The next meeting will be held August 3.

INDIAN BAND COMING.

The famous Haskell Indian Band will be Manager Camp's next offering at the Jockey Club Park, opening Monday night for a week. The band has been playing to excellent business in the East and comes to Louisville commended as one of the best in the country. All the men are full-blooded Indians under the direction of Denison Wheelock, who a few years ago was one of the football champions of the world. The men are finished musicians and their repertoire takes in the whole field of music, ranging from ragtime to the other extreme, Wagner. Fifteen tribes of Indians are represented in the band, among them being Oneidas, Senecas, Sioux, Winnebago, Navajos, Cherokee, Chickasaws, Puelchos, Omahas and Menomons. The "Kilties" will close their successful engagement at the Jockey Club Park with two concerts tomorrow, one at 2:30 in the afternoon and the other at 8:15 at night.

FOURTH ANNUAL.

The fourth annual bratwurst fest and picnic of the Germantown Social is announced to take place at Phoenix Hill Park on July 31. This organization is composed of the leading men of St. Vincent de Paul's parish, who give their feet yearly to raise funds for charitable purposes. Union bands will furnish the music and a jolly good time is promised. Those heretofore given have been very enjoyable and largely attended, and therefore a record breaking crowd is looked for this year.

MICHAEL DAVITT

His Estimate of Parnell Told in His New and Popular Book.

Michael Davitt's great work on the "Fall of Feudalism in Ireland" has just been issued by Harpers. The New York Sun of last Sunday has a full page review of the work, which it praises very highly. In speaking of Parnell, Davitt has to say:

"He was a Protestant, leading a nation chiefly Catholic; a landlord, commanding tenants in a war against his own class; a cold, reserved man, at the head of one of the most warlike and impulsive of races; a sober, unemotional speaker, who never quoted an Irish poet but once, and then quoted him wrongly, in a country remarkable for passion and oratory; a public man and leader who treated his party with icy aloofness for years; who lived away from Ireland most of his time, and who appeared in his conduct toward the Irish people to be absolutely unconcerned as to what they thought of him until the personal issue involved in the unhappy event of 1890 roused him into a fierce contest with those who questioned his right to lead only when the leadership headed directly for disaster." Our author goes on to note that Parnell was unlike all the Irish leaders who had preceded him in respect of accomplishments, traits of character and personal idiosyncrasies. "He had neither wit nor humor, eloquence or the passion of conviction, academical distinction of any kind, scholarship or profession." He was Irish neither in his accent, nor in his appearance, nor in his mannerisms. "In fact, he was a paradox in Irish leadership, and will stand unique within his niche in Irish history, as bearing no resemblance of any kind to those who had handed down to his time the fight for Irish nationhood."

What, then, was the secret of Parnell's immense influence and popularity? Mr. Davitt answers: "He was, above and before everything else, a splendid fighter. He had attacked and beaten the enemies of Ireland in the citadel of their power—the British Parliament. It was here where he loomed great and powerful in Irish imagination. As Wendell Phillips put it on one occasion, Parnell was the Irishman who had compelled John Bull to listen to what he, in behalf of Ireland, had to say in the House of Commons, and the personal force which had done this and had flung the Irish question and representatives thereof the plans and purposes of English parties in a battle for the Irish people appealed instinctively to the admiration of those in whose name this work was accomplished." In order to help us to comprehend the effect of the well timed impact of Parnell's stolid, all-of-a-piece and massive personality, we are invited further to observe that he was "fortunate in being heir to the ripening fruits of his predecessors' labors—the Daniel O'Connells, Fintan Lalors, Gavan Duffy, James Stephens and Isaac Butt, who had sown the seed in less propitious days and under darker skies. The popular mind is not historic in its judgments, nor inclined to portion out its awards in equitable measurement to just desert. The founder of home rule and the little Belfast pork butcher who planned unparliamentary obstruction were forgotten in the public memory as Mr. Parnell became prominently identified with weapons of political warfare he could use more damagingly against the opponents of the Irish cause than could those who had forged what his limited organizing capacity or constructive skill could not have created."

NEW ALBANY.

Prof. John Byrne Calls Upon Old Friends—Picnic a Success.

Prof. John Byrne, who taught school at Holy Trinity church parochial school in New Albany for several years previous to 1880, was a visitor to Father J. B. Kelly this week. He is now teaching a parochial school at Toledo, Ohio, and has been very successful in his chosen work. Prof. Byrne called upon a number of old friends while in New Albany and was cordially received. He will be pleasantly remembered by many of the older citizens. He looks as young almost as he did twenty years ago.

A picnic was given for the benefit of St. Edward's City Hospital at Glenwood Park on Tuesday, and a large crowd attended and had a very enjoyable time. The Sisters who conduct the hospital are deserving of all praise on the good work they have done and the public always responds when the Sisters call for aid. The picnic was given under the auspices of the Ladies Sewing Society connected with the hospital.

The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Wunderlich, wife of Frederick Wunderlich, an old and greatly esteemed resident of the city, took place Tuesday morning from Holy Trinity church and the large attendance attested to the regard felt for this good woman. The services were conducted by the Rev. John B. Kelly. The same morning at 8:30 o'clock, funeral services were held in St. Mary's church over the body of Nicholas Belvois, under the direction of St. Joseph's Benevolent Society and the Society of Alsace and Lorraine. At 10:30 o'clock the funeral of Mrs. Anna Baker, wife of Charles Baker, also took place from St. Mary's and was largely attended. The associate rector, the Rev. Father Barreis, conducted the services at both funerals.

CHARITY LAWN FETE.

A lawn fete will be given at Mrs. J. J. Barrett's residence, 838 East Main street, next Thursday evening, the proceeds of which will be devoted to a well known charitable purpose. Mrs. Barrett, assisted by several ladies of the East End, are putting forth every endeavor to make the affair a success socially and financially.

FEEL HIS LOSS

Catholic Knights Mourn Death of Supreme Secretary Reiter.

Nowhere is the death of Gerard Reiter, Supreme Secretary of the Catholic Knights of America, more sincerely mourned than in Louisville, where he was personally known to many members of the order. Secretary Reiter was taken ill several weeks ago, but letters received by Supreme Trustee McGinn and Supreme Delegate last week expressed hope for his speedy recovery. The news of his death at St. Louis reached here last Saturday morning and was quite a shock to all Catholic Knights. Since his election Secretary Reiter had performed his official duties with signal ability, and the entire order will feel his loss. When elected to the position Secretary Reiter resided at Vincennes, but when the law was changed moved to St. Louis in 1903. His successor will not be chosen until the special meeting of the Supreme Council next month.

AWFUL DEATH

Comes to Dennis McCue After Twenty Years' Railroad Service.

Dennis McCue, for twenty years in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad, was run over by a switch engine and instantly killed Tuesday morning at Fourteenth and High streets. The unfortunate man, who was flagman at that point, had stepped from one track out of the way of an approaching engine, but was unaware that another was coming from an opposite direction. He was not seen until too late, and the efforts of the engineer to reverse his engine and save McCue were futile, the wheels passing over and crushing him in a frightful manner. Dougherty & Keenan took charge of the remains and removed them to the family residence on Twenty-third street. Besides his wife three children survive him. The funeral took place Thursday morning from St. Cecilia's church, with solemn mass of requiem.

OLD PEOPLE DYING.

Startling Mortality Among the Centenarians Throughout Ireland.

There has of late been a startling mortality among centenarians in Ireland. A sprightly pair, aged respectively 108 and 103, opened the hall in Kerry a few months ago, and since then the provincial papers have been kept busy chronicling the deaths of many others in various corners of the country. The death of a couple of those that went off more recently recalled the tragedy in Limerick long ago which furnished the plot for Gerald Griffin's charming novel, "The Collegians," and Dion Bouccault's play (founded on that novel), "The Colleen Bawn." William Quilan, who died at Croom recently, aged 100 years, was a first cousin to Eily O'Connor, the Colleen Bawn, and Mrs. Mary Dillon, who died at Croom also a few days later, in her one hundred and third year, remembered well going to Limerick market with her butter in 1822 and there witnessing the execution of Scanlan for the murder of the Colleen Bawn.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

The united councils of Rhode Island will erect a State home office in Providence.

Memphis (Tenn.) Council has fitted up very handsome quarters, where visitors are always welcome.

Cincinnati Knights are arranging for their annual family outing, which will occur at Coney Island early in August.

Horton, Kan., is one of the latest acquisitions of Columbianism. A council was instituted there last week with a charter membership of fifty.

It will be pleasing news to his many Knights of Columbus friends to know that W. J. O'Brien, of Baltimore Council, was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks at the Cincinnati convention this week. O'Brien's popularity among his antlered brethren was attested by the magnificent vote given him, he receiving 710 votes against 379, cast for his opponent.

A splendid step has been taken and a fine example set by the State convention of the order in Tennessee. A resolution was adopted at the suggestion of State Deputy Kuhn, who made an eloquent plea in its behalf to provide means for the support of a priest to devote his time to giving missions to non-Catholics. It was estimated that the expense would not exceed $500 a year, and as there are 1,000 Knights of Columbus in Tennessee, the expense to each would be but fifty cents per annum.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Iowa Hibernians will hold their State convention in Sioux City.

Wisconsin Hibernians will hold their State convention at Racine on August 8 and 9.

The election of national officers had not taken place when this week's issue went to press.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of East Boston initiated fourteen candidates at their last meeting.

Division 21 of Providence will elect a physician to attend its members when reported sick.

Division 1 meets Tuesday night. All who want to hear some interesting news should attend.

Division 14 of Brighton, Mass., worked the four degrees on fifteen candidates in Parnell Hall at the first July meeting.

The Kentucky Irish American will visit the New Albany and Jeffersonville divisions during the month of August.

The widespread interest manifested in the doings of the national convention is an evidence of the growing strength of the order.

Division 4 will initiate a large class next Wednesday evening. James Ross, of the division, has donated refreshments for the evening.

The divisions of Worcester and vicinity are making arrangements for the formation of a Hibernian regiment, the third in Massachusetts.

Division 3 had an interesting meeting Monday night. One application was presented, and James Coleman in a short but good-natured talk made some timely suggestions.

Duluth Hibernians will participate in the exercises at the dedication of St. James' church tomorrow and will form one of the divisions in the parade of Catholic societies.

There should be a large attendance at the meeting of Division 4 next Wednesday. In addition to the initiation State Secretary McGinn will talk about the national convention.

Twenty-nine new members were initiated recently into Division 2 of Anacanda. At the social session that followed addresses were delivered by Father Coughlin and Chauve.

A full course at Holy Cross College will be the prize offered the most popular pupil in Worcester, Mass., at the fair to be given by the united Hibernian societies of that city in October.

With twenty-one candidates on whom to confer the degrees, the work was done in magnificent and effective style at the recent joint initiation held by the four divisions of Franklin county at Columbus, Ohio.

The sentiment was largely in favor of an Irish field day at the meeting of Division 3 Monday night. The sooner the County Board takes up the matter the better, for all can then go to work and make it a big success.

HONOR FRANK MENNE.

Frank A. Menne, one of the leading and influential Catholic gentlemen of the city and head of the great candy factory at Wenzel and Main streets, was elected a member of the Executive Committee of the National Confectioners' Association last Friday in Detroit, where the association held its twenty-first annual convention. The honor was worthily bestowed and greatly pleases the many candy-makers of Louisville, who recognize in Col. Menne a generous employer and steadfast friend.

BASE BALL.

An exciting game of base ball is looked for tomorrow afternoon, when the Cigarmakers and Dusty Rhodes teams meet on the Grass grounds at Shelby and Oak. These teams met last Sunday, when the Cigarmakers took the Rhodes into camp and administered to them the first defeat of the season. The players on both clubs are the best in the city, therefore a good game may be looked for. The Rhodes boys will make a great effort to regain their lost honors, as another defeat would put their opponents in first place.

SIoux INDIANS' PICNIC.

The Sioux Indians will give their third annual picnic at Phoenix Hill Park on Monday August 1. Music will be furnished by the Sioux Indian Band, composed entirely of members of Sioux Tribe. The committee in charge are Felix McLain, Oscar Fisher, Lase Stoesser, R. R. Westfall, Will, John and Charles Sendmann. A handsome gold watch will be given to the lady cashing the highest number of tickets and a diamond ring to the lady cashing the second highest number.

RECENT DEATHS.

Sincere sympathy is felt for George and Josephine Kern, 1111 Garden street, who laid to rest Wednesday in St. Michael's cemetery their infant daughter, Lillian Ella, whose innocent soul was called from earth with the setting of the sun Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Claretta Read Lynch, beloved wife of George Lynch, of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, yielded up a useful and sweet life Wednesday, leaving behind her husband two sons to mourn her loss. She was a Christian woman, loved and respected by all who knew her. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon from the family residence, 2716 Magazine street, the interment being in the Eastern cemetery.

William H. Kelly, formerly of this city, died in Chicago last Sunday. He was the son of Pat Kelly, the retired contractor, who resides at 717 East Chestnut street. Mr. Kelly was prominently identified with Julius H. Walker & Co., and was highly esteemed in his adopted city. For many years he was the Grand Officer in the Royal League, one of the leading fraternal organizations of the Northwest, consequently his death is mourned by a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Mary Lavin, for over half a century a resident of this city, and a faithful member of St. Patrick's church, passed to eternity Tuesday afternoon, after a long and painful illness of cancer. She was the mother of Mrs. Thomas McHugh and Mrs. Mary Welker, who survive her. Her funeral took place Thursday morning from the residence of her son-in-law, Thomas McHugh, 1827 High street, and from St. Patrick's church, where solemn mass of requiem was sung for the repose of her soul.

The many friends of Mrs. Thomas Skelly were deeply pained Monday when they learned of her death at her home, 434 West Walnut street. Mrs. Skelly had been ill for a long time, but she bore her suffering with the Christian fortitude that marked her entire life. Besides her husband she leaves one son, who has sympathy from all quarters in their great bereavement. Deceased was a member of a well known Catholic family, and before her marriage was Miss Agnes Gorman. The funeral took place Wednesday morning from the Cathedral and was largely attended.

Nicholas Simon, the venerable and respected father of Messrs. John and Frank Simon, one of our oldest Catholic German citizens and a veteran of the Mexican war, passed peacefully to his eternal reward Tuesday night, after a short illness, due to his advanced age. For more than half a century he had led an active life in this city, and was prominent in all movements that made for the advancement of Louisville. His wife, whom he married here in 1849, died twelve years ago, leaving the two sons and a daughter. Nicholas Simon was a devout Catholic and a liberal giver to charity, especially St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum. His funeral took place from St. Mary's church, Rev. Father Westerman conducting the solemn services.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

At a recent meeting of the Cork Industrial Development Association, George Crosbie presiding, Father Downing proposed a scheme for giving a bonus to the wage earner's wife who, at the end of each month, produces receipts showing the largest amount of purchases of Irish manufactures during that month.

The architectural changes and general renovation of the Catholic Cathedral at Newry will be proceeded with at an early date. A new chancel will be added, thus increasing very considerably the present dimensions of the sacred edifice, and the interior renovation of the church will quite transform its present appearance, making when it is finished one of the most beautiful of its kind in all Ireland. The outlay will be about $75,000.

According to a return laid upon the table of the House of Commons by the Irish Congested Districts Board, seventeen estates, with an acreage of 55,085, were purchased during the six months ended April 30 last, for the purpose of resale to tenants and enlargement of holdings. Of these nine estates are situated in the County of Mayo, five in Galway, two in Sligo, and one in Kerry, the number of tenancies thereon being 1,080, the acreage tenanted 23,302, and the acreage untenanted 23,783.

At the weekly meeting of the Committee of the International Exhibition held in the Commercial Building, Dublin, Percy Bernard presiding, it was announced that the total number of guarantees up to date was almost $500,000. Justice Shanks submitted a report dealing with the organization in London, which was deemed very satisfactory. Letters relative to the proposed international regatta, to be held in connection with the forthcoming exhibition, expressing their approval of the project, were received from the Boston Yacht Club and the Royal Mersey Yacht Club.

A most interesting exhibition is being organized in Dungarven, County Waterford, and it is calculated to be far more profitable to local industries than any international bazaar. It is designed to contain four classes of exhibits. First of all, there will be exhibits of existing industries, in which it is hoped to have specimens of every commodity actually being produced in County Waterford. Second, it is intended to illustrate extinct industries, such as the famous cut-glass of Waterford and Bournishon minerals. Third, it will have a bearing on prospective industries, such as pottery from the clays of the back-land of Traillmore, and other possible industries. Fourth, the archaeology and art of the county will be represented.

A most able, thoughtful and suggestive paper was read at the Maynooth Union by the Most Rev. Dr. Kelly, Bishop of Ross, on the subject of "Woman's Share in the Industrial Revival of Ireland." His Lordship faced the facts boldly that the Irish people in Ireland is in danger not merely of diminution by emigration, which skins the very cream of the rural population, but of deterioration by improper rearing and nutriment. It is in infancy and in youth, as his Lordship showed, that the stamens of a race is secured. The child is father to the man, and it is the special province of the Irish woman to save the rising generation from physical deterioration. The man is the breadwinner of a family, but the woman is the food distributor. It is for the woman to see that where poverty does not forbid, the young are fed with food necessary and appropriate for youth. His Lordship's paper dwelt with many phases of the social and economical life of Ireland with a sympathetic insight and knowledge that give to his views a very exceptional value.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICE

Offered by the Henderson Route Between Louisville and St. Louis.

Commencing Sunday, June 26, Kentucky's popular line, the Henderson route, will inaugurate a safe and fast day service between Louisville and St. Louis in each direction, and will improve the time and equipment generally of all trains between these points. Three daily trains will be operated in each direction on the following safe schedules between Louisville and St. Louis:

Leave Louisville 8:30 a. m., 9 p. m. and 7 a. m.; arrive St. Louis 6:16 p. m., 7:20 a. m. and 6:16 p. m.

The equipment is brand new (just from the shops), of the most modern vestibule pattern, and is as fine as on any train operating in or out of Kentucky. The 8:30 a. m. train, through without change of cars, will be composed of Pullman observation parlor cars, free reclining chair cars, dining cars and high back seat passenger coaches. The 9 p. m. train, through without change of cars, will consist of Pullman sleeping cars, free reclining chair cars and high back seat passenger coaches. The dining cars on day trains will serve meals a la carte—you pay only for what you get.

All trains will leave from and arrive in the Seventh-street Union depot, Louisville, arriving at and departing from the magnificent new Union Station, St. Louis. For any other information call upon E. M. Womack, City Passenger Agent, 230 Fourth avenue, Louisville, or F. G. Cunningham, Traveling Passenger Agent, 206 North Broadway, St. Louis.

GREAT LOSS

Sustained by the Passionist
Fathers in Death of Their
Provincial.Very Rev. Father Stephen Kealy
Stricken While Saying
Mass.As a Young Priest He Spent
Some Time at St.
Cecilia's.

INTERESTED IN NEW MONASTERY

Last Sunday's Associated Press dispatches brought to this city the painful news that the Very Rev. Stephen Kealy, Provincial of the Passionist Order in the United States, dropped dead while celebrating the first mass in St. Michael's chapel in West Hoboken. When communicated with Monday the particulars of Father Kealy's death had not reached the Sacred Heart Retreat on the Newburg road, but it was learned that he was stricken with apoplexy and fell on the altar steps, dying before any medical assistance could be rendered. The news came as a shock to the good fathers at the Sacred Heart Retreat and those who knew Father Kealy, as they were not aware that he was ill. He was not of a robust constitution, yet he was active in his duties, and no warning of the great loss the order was to sustain had been given.

Father Stephen was born in Kyle, Ireland, in 1849, coming to the United States in 1868. After engaging in business for about a year he entered the novitiate of the Passionists in Pittsburg, and was professed August 13, 1870. Having completed his studies, he was ordained to the holy priesthood on September 22, 1877. As a young priest he spent some time in Louisville at St. Cecilia's, and is well remembered by the people of that congregation.

Father Kealy was employed in various offices in the order. It was while he was Superior that the Passionists erected their beautiful new church on Mt. Adams, Cincinnati. He was sent to South America in 1891, but the climate not agreeing with him, he returned to the United States. He was elected Provincial for the second term in 1902, and therefore had one year more yet to serve when death called him.

Father Stephen always evinced a deep interest in the Sacred Heart Retreat near this city, where he had hoped to soon erect a new and commodious monastery. Father Felix Ward, O. P., is now acting Provincial. His love for Louisville is well known, and what can be done for a new retreat Father Felix will certainly accomplish.

The funeral of Father Stephen was held at West Hoboken, the remains being buried under the high altar of the Passionist church there.

Fred Herp, Second Vice President of Mackin Council, presided over the deliberations of that body Tuesday night, showing an ability that gratified his warmest supporters and puts him in line for the Presidency. Owing to the excessive heat the attendance was rather small, but nevertheless the business transacted was important. After receiving one application the council was addressed by Grand Secretary Lautz and William M. Higgins regarding the coming Grand Council and the joint excursion to Lexington. It is hoped that several hundred members will make the trip on a special train, accompanied by a band of music.

SHOCKINGLY

Sudden Was the Death of Judge
Upton W. Muir at
Cape May.Drowned While Bathing in the Surf Last Wednesday.Universal Sorrow and Sympathy for His Family and Father.

REMAINS BROUGHT HOME FOR BURIAL

The announcement of the sudden death of Judge Upton W. Muir by drowning at Cape May, N. J., Wednesday, came as a great shock to the people of Louisville. Judge Muir was the youngest of the Circuit Judges and one of the most popular men on the bench. He was first appointed to the judiciary by Gov. Beckham in the spring of 1902, and in November, 1903, was elected by the people for a term of six years. Although the youngest member of the bench, he was recognized as one of the ablest of the Judges, and apparently had a bright future before him. He was an upright and impartial Judge, treating everybody, without regard to creed or political affiliation, with the utmost fairness and impartiality, as becomes one holding a judicial position.

Upton Muir was the son of Judge Peter B. Muir, an eminent lawyer, who still survives. Judge Peter B. Muir is the legal adviser and trusted counsel of Right Rev. Bishop McCloskey, which position he has filled for a quarter of a century. Although not of the Catholic faith, Judge Peter B. Muir has always stood for Catholic rights in Louisville and in Kentucky. His son, Judge Upton W. Muir, was of the same stripe.

Upton W. Muir was born in Louisville in December, 1863. He graduated with honors from the University of Virginia in 1888, and up to the time of his election to the bench was a law partner of his distinguished father. He served one term as a member of the General Council and was President of the Board.

Judge Muir went to Cape May last Friday to spend his summer vacation, accompanied by his wife and two children. He was bathing in the surf when death suddenly came to him. No recent death of a public man in Louisville has created such widespread regret.

Judge Peter B. Muir, the venerable father of deceased, and the surviving widow and children have the sympathy of the community. The remains were brought to Louisville at once, and the funeral will take place this morning from St. Andrew's Episcopal church. Active and honorary pall-bearers were selected from among the Judges of the courts and prominent business men of the city.

WANT ONE BIG BODY.

Prominent Hibernians Advocating Consolidation of Local Divisions.

Louisville boasts of four divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, with a membership of between 600 and 700. For some months past men prominent in that order have been advocating their consolidation into one big body. They point out that the meetings would then be largely attended, the members become better acquainted, together with a great saving of time and expense.

This important question will soon be presented to the four divisions for due consideration, and later, probably after the State convention, a mass meeting of Hibernians may be called, when a full hearing will be given those who advocate the change. All the divisions are in splendid condition, but they cannot be consolidated so long as seven members refuse to give up their charter. The idea appears to be to have not so many but stronger divisions in Louisville, where the membership should be at least 2,000.
